

Photograph: John Clayton

Photo courtesy of John Clayton

John Clayton

John Clayton, in addition to being a photographer (his image above is of a female redwing blackbird), is a native life enthusiast, retired teacher, former Peace Corps volunteer, prairie wildflower gardener, and resident of Grinnell, Iowa. He asserts that climate change is occurring, is mainly man-made, and that there is hope. John has organized and/or delivered talks about the climate change crisis, and is also active in local politics, as he believes it is a duty of every citizen to participate.